2024 Reflections, 2025 Year of Experiences

Vikas Surani

Hello, Curious Minds!

While goals work for many, I've found that habits work for me. 2024 was about building these habits, shaping my growth and contributions. As we step into 2025, I'm excited to carry these habits forward while embracing transformative experiences that leave a lasting impact. Here's how 2024 unfolded. ✨

I Read 📖

It started with reading a page daily. Yes, daily.

Reading continued to become a companion this year, offering new perspectives (even if audiobooks occasionally took the lead over physical ones). From leadership insights with the TATAs to the thrill of Never Forget, Disney's magic for my kids, and Super Communicators for sharpened communication, every book brought value to my journey. By year's end, I had read over 20 books and articles, each sparking ideas and reflections.

I Write 🖋️

It started with writing a note daily. Yes, daily.

Writing became my voice—my way of connecting and creating. Over 100 posts, whitepapers, and notes later, I shared ideas, built connections, and inspired conversations. Highlights include Digital Transformation Odyssey and my Imperfect Fearless Playbook. Each piece aimed to inspire and collaborate, unlocking potential across personal and professional spaces.

I Reflect 🧘

It started with weekly reflections.

Reflection grounded me. From Sunday reflections to curating the Being Curious newsletters, these moments of introspection provided clarity. They allowed me to celebrate milestones, learn from challenges, and stay aligned with my purpose. By year's end, I shared over 24 reflections across these formats including Thoughtful Thursdays and TED Talk Inspirations.

I Care ❤️

It started with the thought of giving back.

Empathy & gratitude became a cornerstone. Through thoughtful gestures, meaningful conversations, and support for causes close to my heart, I prioritized care. I gifted over 24 books, supported NGOs, and helped others enroll in growth-oriented courses—fostering shared purpose and connection.

I Lead ✨

It started with building a fearless organization.

Leadership for me was about empowering others. Guiding a team of over 30, representation at global summits, and contributing to over $100M in business were key milestones. But the true essence of leadership was in the moments—like clubhouse meets and coffee conversations—where collaboration and collective growth took center stage.

I Learn

It started with committing to growth.

Every challenge, experience, and interaction became a lesson. With over 15 certifications, ranging for leadership to building strategy to AI Leadership, I embraced lifelong learning. 2024 reinforced growth is a journey.

Looking Ahead

2025 – Year of Experiences.

It's a year to translate habits into actions that create memories, lessons, and stories worth telling. From new adventures in learning to moments that matter with family, friends, and peers, I'm eager to explore, immerse, and expand.

Here's to a year of impactful experiences—professionally and personally. Let's make it unforgettable!
