5 hacks to turn TeamWork into DreamWork

Vikas Surani

Global Vice President – Growth | TEDx Speaker | IIMA

December 22, 2024

👋 Hello, Curious Minds!

Have you ever seen an orchestra play? Musicians from diverse backgrounds, with unique instruments, come together to create something breathtaking. That's teamwork—turning individual brilliance into collective harmony.

As we wrap up the year, I reflect on the growth of our team and the valuable lessons learned along the way while building the Value Generative Office (VGO). Together, we've seen how teamwork transforms into dreamwork, driving our collective success and shaping our path forward in our journey to move from good to great.

🌟 1 A Shared Mission Creates Magic

A janitor at NASA famously said, "I'm helping put a man on the moon." That sense of purpose transforms even small tasks into meaningful contributions.

At VGO, our mission to build a fearless organization encourages progress over perfection. Initiatives like Paint It Green and safe spaces like our clubhouse meets remind us that every role matters and every voice counts.

2 Diversity Fuels Innovation

Imagine the Wright brothers—one a visionary, the other a practical mechanic. Their differences made flight possible.

Our team reflects this dynamic:

- ✅ Over 50% women
- ✅ Teams spanning regions and time zones
- ✅ Unique perspectives coming together

Diversity isn't just a statistic; it's the spark for groundbreaking ideas.

3 Trust Turns Challenges into Triumphs

In 1975, an almost-bankrupt Apple convinced Xerox to trust their vision. That leap of faith gave us the Macintosh, revolutionizing computing.

For us, trust means creating environments where no idea is too small, and no one feels judged. It's this trust that transforms challenges into opportunities.

4 Roles Clarify, but Goals Unify

Think of an F1 pit crew—every member knows their exact role. Seconds can make or break a race, and clarity is key.

At VGO, clear roles paired with shared goals help us stay focused on the finish line, working in unison like a well-oiled machine.

5 Celebrate Every Step

The Mars Orbiter Mission celebrated every milestone, even when success felt uncertain. Small wins led to big breakthroughs.

At VGO, we embrace this spirit during our clubhouse meets, celebrating the journey just as much as the destination. These moments remind us that progress, not perfection, keeps us moving forward.

What About You?

This journey has been inspiring, and I'm grateful for the 2,000+ subscribers who've joined me.

Here's a question for you:

 What's one moment where teamwork turned your dream into reality?

Why would more than 50% woman make something successful rather than 100% deserving skillful team members? Seems like more of a politically correct statement than an equal opportunity.

Saumendra Rathod I agree a completely. By locking the number at 50% one is potentially setting up limits/quotas and gender bias. Todays ask should be more towards 100% deserving and skilled team members irrespective of Gender, Race, Social Status or any other limiting bias.
