From Intent to Impact: Innovation, Sustainability & Social Impact

Vikas Surani

Global Vice President – Growth | TEDx Speaker | IIMA

November 5, 2025

Hello Curious Minds,

Last Month, I found myself on stage — not just as a keynote speaker, but as a witness to a powerful moment. I asked a room of eager young folks:

“What does innovation mean to you?”

Hands went up. Answers came fast: AI, startups, technology. And in that instant I realized: yes, those are signals—but the real story lies deeper.

Because innovation today isn't just about technology — it's about purpose.

Because sustainability is no longer optional; it's the measure of responsible progress.

Because social impact gives meaning to what we build.

These aren't just lines. They were the pulse of the conference.

The Conference That Lit It Up

At the Unitedworld Institute of Management\(UIM\), Karnavati University, during the International Conference on Innovation, Sustainability & Social Impact (13-15 October 2025), well organized by Rahul Chauhan, Ph.D. Prof. Aalap Patel Dr.Salim Ali Shamsher,CMA global minds gathered. students, academia, industry voices—all in one hall exploring how ideas can actually drive meaningful change.

I had the honor of moderating a panel with remarkable persona:

- Kavita Neelkantan, Founder of Kavyata
- Arpita Patel, Founder of Ancient Roots
- Neha Bajaj, Associate Director, Global Mass Transit

Here are their take-aways that stuck with me:

- Innovation – “Stay curious and collaborate,” said Kavita Neelakantan. Because no breakthrough happens alone—and curiosity is the spark.
- Sustainability – “Follow your passion,” shared Arpita Patel. When your work aligns with your values, sustainability becomes a way of being.
- Persistence – “Keep trying. Keep showing up,” said Neha Bajaj Pathak. Because progress doesn’t come from perfection — it comes from persistence.

And the overarching whisper through the hall: don’t let the fear of failure stop you. The real failure is not trying at all.

My Takeaway

At Mastek, we speak about turning “intent into impact”. Whether it’s mentoring 12,000+ students through Project Deep Blue, or being recognized in the S&P Global Sustainability Yearbook 2025—what matters is that innovation is directed, sustainability is lived, and social impact is real.

That day at UIM, it wasn’t the tech that impressed me most. It was the new age Bharat voice & questions—bold, thoughtful, fearless. They were asking “What’s possible?” “What’s right?” And that’s where the future begins.

A Practical Call to Action

Pick one action. Just one.

- Ask yourself: What am I curious about?
- Decide: What value do I want to create?
- Commit: I will show up, even when it’s uncertain.

Because innovation begins when curiosity meets courage. Sustainability thrives when purpose meets consistency. Social impact flows when intent meets action.

Let’s unite our minds. Let’s bring our ideas. Let’s be the change.

Stay Curious, Vikas Surani

Great question. Thanks for asking @Vikas Surani. As in most aspects of leadership, you have to start by modeling and demonstrating it yourself. Be curious. Learn to train and mentor using the old concept of the "socratic" method. It is powerful! And when they get a little tired of all the questions all the time and ask
