

Home

My Network

Jobs

Messaging

Notifications

Me

For Business

Edit articleView statsView postBeing Curious
2,671 subscribers✓ Subscribed

Being Curious #101

How to Get Things Done, Grow, and Thrive.

Vikas Surani

Global Vice President – Growth | TEDx Speaker | IIMA

October 6, 2024

Hello, Curious Minds!

Welcome to the first edition of my weekly "Being Curious" newsletter, where we dive into simple yet impactful ideas that drive growth and productivity. This week, we focused on the theme of "Getting Things Done." Here are the key quotes I shared, along with actionable insights to help you ACT to grow, thrive, and create positive momentum in your life.

1. What gets scheduled, often gets done.

A packed to-do list can be overwhelming, but when we schedule tasks—literally block out time for them—we give ourselves a better chance to follow through. Think of your calendar as a tool to build intentional focus, whether it's for personal or professional goals.

ACT: Try a 30-minute "planning ritual" every Sunday evening. This helps to mentally prepare for the week ahead and ensures that your priorities are reflected in your schedule. Give it a try this week!

How do you make sure important things get done?

Share <https://shorturl.at/wDQbm>

2. What gets measured, often gets improved.

You can't improve what you don't track. Whether it's your progress on a project, your health goals, or your team's performance, measuring allows you to see where things stand and where they can grow. Small adjustments lead to meaningful improvements over time.

ACT: Track your energy levels throughout the week, not just your productivity. How you feel can be just as important as what you get done. Are there tasks that drain you more than others? Knowing this can help you better manage your time and energy.

💡 What are you tracking to improve? Share here <https://shorturl.at/eMMGY>

3. What gets celebrated, often gets repeated.

Celebrating small wins is crucial to long-term success. When we take a moment to acknowledge progress, it builds positive momentum. Small wins build confidence and drive the pursuit of larger goals.

ACT: Create a "Celebration Jar" where you write down any win, big or small, that happened that week. At the end of the week, look back at your progress and celebrate. It's a fun way to build positivity into your routine.

💡 What's a recent win you're celebrating? Share here <https://shorturl.at/gsx0Q>

4. What gets prioritized, often gets accomplished.

Productivity isn't about doing more—it's about doing what matters most. Prioritization is the key to ensuring you're working on high-impact tasks rather than just staying busy. Clear priorities lead to focused action.

ACT: Use the Eisenhower Matrix to categorize tasks based on urgency and importance. This will help you prioritize effectively, ensuring the critical work gets done without distractions.

💡 What's your top priority today? Share here <https://shorturl.at/lMw4T>

5. What goes around, often comes around.

Insight: The energy we put out into the world—through our work, relationships, or actions—tends to circle back to us. When we invest time in helping others or doing good, it often leads to positive outcomes in return, sometimes in unexpected ways.

ACT: Make a conscious effort to reach out and help someone every day, whether it's offering advice, sharing resources, or simply being a positive influence. Not only will it strengthen your relationships, but you'll also create a cycle of positive energy.

💡 How have you experienced this in your life? Share here <https://shorturl.at/6L4vV>

Weekly Growth Insight: The Power of Momentum

One thing that ties all these ideas together is the concept of momentum. When you start small—by scheduling, measuring, celebrating, prioritizing, and giving—you begin to build a flow of positive energy. This momentum keeps you moving forward, even when challenges arise. It's not about being perfect; it's about staying consistent.

Action Step for You: Pick one thing from this week's newsletter to focus on. Whether it's scheduling, measuring progress, celebrating a win, prioritizing your tasks, or giving back—take small steps to build your own momentum. Remember, growth doesn't happen overnight, but through consistent and intentional actions.

I'd love to hear how these insights help you in your journey. What stood out to you this week? Feel free to share your thoughts or any tips you have in the comments. Let's keep this conversation going and stay curious together!

Until next time,

Vikas Surani

Subscribe Newsletter

Comments

👤 32 · 7 comments

Support

Comment

Share

Share your support...

Most recent ▼

Dr. Anurag Mehta · 1st

1y ...

Creating Happy Workplaces Beaming With Business through Psychol...

Excellent coverage of relevant areas and articulation. Loved it !

Like | Reply · 2 replies

See previous replies

Dr. Anurag Mehta · 1st

1y ...

Creating Happy Workplaces Beaming With Business through P...

Vikas Surani I guess for me the celebration or recognition/ appreciation/ acknowledgement of work done well (whether for self or the team) goes a long way to inspire you especially during difficult times.

Support · 1 | Reply

Yash Lalchandani, CF APMP · 1st
Results-Oriented Bid Manager | Passionate about Winning Strategies...

1y ...

Great Points Vikas. For this week I will pick up Scheduling the task regularly 👍👍

Like | Reply · 1 reply

Vikas Surani · Author
Global Vice President – Growth | TEDx Speaker | IIMA

1y ...

Yash Lalchandani, CF APMP That's exciting, rooting for you.
Fuelling your growth with my Cheers 🍷

Kunal Harsora · 3rd
HVAC designer & contractor

1y ...

Nice bro keep it up, I told my children to subscribe to your great curious thoughts!

Like | Reply · 1 reply

Vikas Surani · Author
Global Vice President – Growth | TEDx Speaker | IIMA

1y ...

Kunal Harsora Glad to learn about this and thanks for sharing 🙌

Like | Reply | 5 impressions

Being Curious

A weekly newsletter where I share quick insights, experiences, and lessons learned from my journey.

Prerna, Taha and 2,446 connections are subscribed

2,671 subscribers

✓ Subscribed